

1 ABSTRACT

2

3 A method for analyzing or designing a fluid extrusion device using a computer
4 system involves inputting fluid rheological data and extrusion device data into a
5 computer system having CFD numerical algorithms and a user interface; computing flow
6 characteristics of the extrusion device; and extracting data relating to the flow
7 characteristics.

8